12. To help foster an effective learning environment for members and guests, the CXO Forum seeks to engender open and frank dialogue among attendees during the course of its meetings. Clearly, each attendee must judge for himself or herself the extent of private information he or she shares with others in attendance (especially considering that some of the attendees may be total strangers to him or her). Toward this end, the CXO Forum wishes to minimize the likelihood of attendance of two or more direct competitors in the same CXO Forum group or chapter. While it makes no guarantees in this regard, we ask that members: (a) inform a CXO Forum leader that a direct competitor is present, if and when they recognize this; and (b) maintain in confidence, refrain from exploiting related opportunities for their own purposes, and confine related discussion solely to members in their CXO Forum group or chapter, any statements made by others which are clearly confidential to the person making the statement. If this Application is accepted and the Applicant becomes a member of the CXO Forum, will the Applicant adhere to the precepts of subpoints (a) and (b) in the preceding sentence?
